Data Commission cracks whip on firms breaching clients' privacy

Data Protection Officer Yusuf Momanyi says ODPC has received over 2,000 complaints between February 2022, when the Data Protection Regulations took effect.

BY JANE NGUGI (KNA)

The Office of the Data Protection Commissioner (ODPC) is cracking the whip on companies breaching privacy of their users' personal data as it tightens the noose on the misuse of such information.

The ODPC reiterated its commitment to smoke out institutions such as banks, betting firms, digital lenders and online retail shops that violate provisions of the Data Protection Act, adding that it has stepped up the war on online and private data breaches.

This is happening at a time the digital economy is booming, exposing vast quantities of sensitive user data to misuse.

Data Protection Officer Yusuf Momanyi disclosed that ODPC has received over 2,000 complaints between February 2022,

New funding model, Open University among raft of reforms for varsities

BY LATIFA HASSAN (KNA)

The Government is working on various reforms to improve access to quality education in the country by Kenyan youth.

According to Cabinet Secretary Ezekiel Machogu, some of the reforms lined up for implementation are the funding model for universities and the launch of the Open University of Kenya which will revive and enhance the effectiveness of the university sub-sector.

The National Open University of Kenya will provide distance learning and allow more students to enroll for academic programmes, regardless of their geographical location, age or employment status.

The CS disclosed that plans for the launch of the University are at an advanced stage, and that they are set to admit the first cohort of students in September, 2023 where Garissa University will also provide a convenient and flexible mode of study to students.

Speaking at the Garissa University during their 4th graduation ceremony, the Education CS said his ministry is keen on providing the necessary resources and environment to ensure that universities thrive in skill development and societal transformation.

"Beginning the next academic year, university students will be funded on the basis of the actual cost of their programmes. The funding will also be student-centered, and will take into account the level of need of a specific student," Machogu said.

"The model will ensure that no one is left behind as far as access to quality university education is concerned. Socio-economic barriers will be eliminated, extremely needy and vulnerable students will not be required to pay a coin for their university education," when the Data Protection Regulations took effect. The bulk of the complaints were on digital lenders.

In exercising its mandate, Momanyi said the office had in April penalized one online lender and a city working space provider Sh5 million each over allegations of intruding and sharing Kenyans' personal data.

Digital lender Whitepath Limited was penalised for non-compliance and non-cooperation with ODPC following complaints lodged against them by users of their services over breach of personal data.

Speaking during a sensitisation workshop on data protection organised for the Nakuru County Government employees, the officer further cited a case where the Data Commissioner slapped Oppo Kenya with a Sh5 million fine over

"We have carried out an audit on 10 digital lenders over misuse of customers data following complaints from the public. The issue is not to stop the data collection, but to have parameters within which those sensitive personal data sets can be collected, stored, accessed and shared. Don't over collect information about people, without justification," the Data Protection Officer stated.

He observed that illegal access to pools of personal data gleaned by individuals, companies and even government agencies are often used for blackmail, identity theft, intimidation, targeted advertising and extortion.

Mr Momanyi indicated that insurance and providers of health care also face stringent fines in case they breach the privacy of patients by sharing such data with third parties

He warned firms that getting their processes flagged by ODPC not only results in enforcement notices and administrative fines but also a steep public relations cost due to the ensuing bad publicity.

The officer said in the event of commercialization of data, a data controller or data processor who uses personal data for commercial purposes without the consent of the data subject commits an offence.

Machogu said the reforms will play a crucial role in the development and transformation in the country and are intended to enhance service delivery, improve governance and promote quality and relevant education in the country's universities.

Open universities are institutions offering degrees with low or no entry requirements. They are the ideal study options for students who have graduated their previous studies with low grades but want to continue their higher education. The regular degrees require the students to be present on the campus and attend the classes and lectures regularly.

However, for the open degree, it is not required to attend the classes regularly, and there is no need to be present at the same time and place.

Education Cabinet Secretary Ezekiel Machogu addressing a gathering during the 4th graduation ceremony of Garissa University yesterday. He said his ministry is working on reforms to enhance service delivery, improve governance and promote quality and relevant education and research in our universities.

NATIONAL COUNTER TERRORISM CENTRE

PUBLIC CONSULTATIONS ON THE REVIEW OF THE NATIONAL STRATEGY TO COUNTER VIOLENT EXTREMISM

The National Counter Terrorism Centre (NCTC) notifies and invites the public to participate in the review of the National Strategy to Counter Violent Extremism (NSCVE).

NCTC is an inter-agency body mandated by law to co-ordinate national counter terrorism efforts to detect, deter and disrupt terrorism acts. In fulfilling this mandate, the Centre has coordinated national efforts that led to the adoption of the NSCVE in 2016.

Through this strategy and the collective efforts of the Kenyan people, the Country has effectively responded to the threat of radicalisation and insulated communities from violent extremists through initiatives that are community owned and led. After seven years of active implementation, the NSCVE is proposed for review to address the dynamic ways in which the threat of terrorism and violent extremism is mutating and manifesting in our communities.

This review seeks to collectively negotiate and adopt a strategy that is people driven, adaptive, responsive, sustainable, homegrown and alive to local needs. The review process shall be an inclusive popular effort guided by the high threshold of the Constitution of Kenya including the values and principles of human dignity, equity, social justice, inclusiveness, human rights and non-discrimination.

To enable public participation in the review process, the Centre has established an interactive page on its website to facilitate dialogue and interactions among different stakeholders. The public is invited to make comments, submit memoranda and track the review process through www.counterterrorism.go.ke/nsCVE.

Stakeholders are also invited to make submissions or seek clarification through nscve@counterterrorism.go.ke, the various social media handles listed below or their respective County Engagement Forum.

Creation of County directors of information offices to strengthen grassroots communication – PS

BY ANNE MWALE AND ANNE SABUNI (KNA)

The Principal Secretary for State Department of Broadcasting and Telecommunication Prof. Edward Kisiang'ani is rooting for the fast tracking of the restructuring of the department to allow seamless service delivery to Kenyans.

Noting that the changes are meant to align the functions with the development agenda and the Bottom-up Economic Transformation Agenda (BETA), PS Kisiang'ani announced that 60 positions for directors of communication will be established to enhance communication in the entire government.

Prof. Kisiang'ani regretted that the department is so restricted on the ground, and this will be addressed by creating positions of county directors of information in the structure to strengthen communication from the

"The State Department can do better and the 60 directorates of communication will help ease communication and re-engineer our state departments to be in-tandem with the executive order which demands that we work as one across all ministries," he said, urging the Public Service Commission to act on the reports that also clarified the roles and functions of various directorates to avert overlaps.

He added that career civil servants will be given priority in filling the vacancies, with gaps in the structure being filled through promotion of officers and further recruitment.

PS Kisiang'ani, who announced plans to roll out an e-commerce platform through the Postal Corporation of Kenya, noted the need for a Secretary of Postal and Infrastructure Services, adding that the department will work to safeguard and enhance its infrastructure in place to bolster e-commerce.

"We are proposing a Secretary for Telecommunications Services to spearhead the country towards a future in telecommunication that has seen organizations shift to satellite from the frequency spectrum platforms, because of the shortage of frequencies," he revealed.

RBA holds public forum on National Retirement Benefits Policy

BY LUCY GITEI AND PHINTA AMONDI (KNA)

The Retirement Benefits Authority (RBA) in collaboration with the Ministry of National Treasury and Planning has held a public participation forum with the aim of structuring, implementing and evaluating the National Retirement Policy Framework.

The forum brought together various stakeholders, trustees, members of the retirement benefit scheme, pension providers and the public in efforts to improve the sector's management and development as well as enhance the benefits coverage.

The forum, through the policy, also seeks to mitigate old age poverty, smooth consumption of pensions and promote national saving as a secondary objective for development in the country.

Speaking during the forum at a Nairobi Hotel, RBA Chief Executive Officer (CEO) Charles Wachira said the policy consolidated under the National Treasury aims to provide guidance by offering consistency, efficiency, accountability, clarity, credibility and validation in the sector.

He added that the policy's main objective is to raise the legal framework, empower, ensure and enable every Kenyan worker and retiree to live with dignity, in their own social and economic lives.

The CEO emphasised that the forum will not only help eliminate difficulty in accessing the retirement funds but also increase the 25 per cent coverage rate compared to the 40 per cent income generating ratio.

"The outcome of this forum is to input contributions, views and frameworks that will enable us to incorporate the labour force who have inadequate income or nothing at all and assist them to have a comfortable retirement," said Wachira.

Repayment rate of Hustler Fund tops 56.4pc in Kisii County-PS

BY JANE NAITORE AND JEFFERSON VOLKA (KNA)

Some 394,000 people in Kisii County have benefited from Sh. 400m Individual Hustler Fund since it was launched in November last year through mobile money platforms.

The Principal Secretary for the State Department of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises Development, Ms. Susan Atieno Mang'eni who was speaking during a visit to Bonchari constituency said the Fund will soon be a game changer for Kenyans in the low income bracket.

Consequently, PS Mang'eni who was accompanied by the Micro and Small Enterprises Authority (MSEA) Executive Officer, Principal Secretary, State Department of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises Development, Ms. Susan Atieno Mang'eni admires locally made leather shoes during a visit to Bonchari constituency Industrial Development Center (CIDC) in Kisii County. She was shown around by area County Commissioner, Tom Anjere.

Mr. Henry Rithaa urged the youth to repay the grants saying repayment rate currently stood at 56.4 per cent in the county.

Mang'eni noted that prompt repayment would raise residents' bargaining power for higher limits of the loan to grow their businesses.

She was speaking at Suneka in Itibo Ward at the Constituency Industrial Development Center (CIDC), where she reiterated that the bottom up model of economic growth by Kenya Kwanza government was the best to spur economic growth by mainstreaming and harnessing the potential of Micro and Small Enterprises.

Ms. Mang'eni said they had found good opportunity in leather chain, wood work and vegetables value addition at the center, although there was need for machinery to make the center more viable.

She said the site needed to be expanded to make it a light industry to the level of Kariobangi in Nairobi which she said was the backbone of the city's economy.

The PS said that concerted effort between the National Government Constituency Development Fund, Youth fund, Kenya Industrial Estates and Hustler Fund among others will be utilized to buy machinery and upgrade technology to ensure the CIDC was fully operational.

Mang'eni promised immediate capacity building programs for traders and financial products for value chains especially dairy value chain, edible oil from groundnuts, tea and bananas and other traditional crops found in the area.

Area legislator Dr. Charles Onchoke noted the importance of the collaboration, saying, it will go a long way in revamping the industrial centre which has been dormant for a long time.

Onchoke said it will also offer employment for the youth in the constituency and reduce poverty levels which currently stands at 43.5 per cent in the area, besides helping achieve the country's vision 2030 among other plans by the national government.

One leather artisan and trader Shadrack Kimulu appealed to the collaborating partners to move with speed in implementing the plans, citing myriad of challenges including competition from the mitumba industry, poor access to credit, high cost of raw materials and old technology.

MSEA specifically focuses on providing policy guidance, capacity building, access to finance, and market development support to MSEs at the national level while the Bonchari Constituency Office seeks to address the socio-economic needs of the local population.

KUCCPS unveils community drive to promote tertiary education in Wajir

BY DOUGLAS NAMUNANE
(KNA)

The Kenya Universities and Colleges Central Placement Service (KUCCPS) has rolled-out a massive community awareness campaign in Wajir County to ensure all learners exiting secondary schools join tertiary institutions.

KUCCPS Chief Executive Officer Dr. Agnes Wahome says the transition rate from secondary to tertiary education in the county is insignificant and needs urgent intervention.

Addressing stakeholders at the Wajir East Technical Training Institute, Dr. Wahome said less than 40 per cent of those who sat for their 2021 Kenya Certificate of Secondary Education have enrolled in various tertiary institutions.

"In 2021 we only had 31 per cent of students from Wajir who scored grade C+ and above applying for university education", said Dr. Wahome.

The CEO further said that in 2022, the County had registered over 6,000 students out of which 49 per cent attained a mean grade of C+ and above.

"Unfortunately, from the statistics, only 992 students applied for the courses. So, we are saying we need to work with local leaders so that we get more students applying for the courses", Dr. Wahome added.

She said the government is also perturbed by the low intake experienced in the technical training institutes in the county.

"In the three technical institutions namely Wajir East, South and Tambach, we have just 59 students. So clearly there's a lot of work that needs to be done in this region", noted Dr. Wahome.

She called on the local leaders, in addition to parents, to encourage students to take advantage of the government's subsidized education program to pursue various courses of their choice.

In regard to the new Universities and TVETs funding model, Dr. Wahome said the government will fully foot the bill of approximately 45,000 learners joining different public universities.

"We have 42,000 Ken-yans who will be supported to take up courses in TVET institutions, that the government has constructed and fully financed them," the KUCCPS Chief Executive Officer further said.

She said the government has further introduced an affirmative action program to ensure that students from the county are granted a window of two points below the required public university entry points.

Pursuant to Regulation 21 of the Environmental Management and Coordination (Impact Assessment and Audit) Regulations, 2003 the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the above proposed project.

The proponent, Kenya National Highways Authority, proposed to construct a class C primary road that is approximately 94km long. The main section is approximately 49km and will have a desirable width of 40m and 25m in sections traversing Aberdares Forest and starts at Ihithe, through Nyayo Tea Zone, Aberdare National Park, Kahuruko and ends at Ndunyu Njeru. Other road sections include in the project are the Njengu -Treetops Gate - Ambone, the Ihithe - Kiamutiga - Mukarara, the Ark Gate Access, the Munyaka - Koinange - Heni - Mwendandu and the Njoma - Weru road sections, all totaling approximately 44km in length. The proposed project traverses through Nyeri and Nyandarua Counties.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

ANTICIPATED IMPACTS	MITIGATION MEASURES
Clearing of vegetation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Cleared trees should be kept within the forest and should be used in order to prolong period of carbon emission. Sites should be identified for offsetting the loss of forest cover and biomass. This will require an adoption of compensation plan
Human-Wildlife conflict	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Construction of the road should be conducted faster to minimize potential diversion of animal movements. Excavation of deep long channels should be avoided.
Wildlife Poaching	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> KWS should screen contractor personnel working in the project. Contractor should work within the construction space of the road and designated construction camp. KWS should screen contractor's construction plant, equipment, containers, etc. Security in the region should enhance surveillance on vehicles
Barrier to movement of elephants and Rhinos to the river and dispersal foraging grounds	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Construction of road should be conducted faster during dry season to allow for natural dispersal tendency of wildlife during wet seasons; Crossing ramps should be put in place where temporary trenches are constructed; Avoid deep trenches as much as possible; Provide drinking water troughs and mud puddles away from the roads.
Impact on aesthetic Value	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Plant grasses, lianas and climbers on cut slopes; Level of road fillings on valleys should be synchronized with the gradient of the topography in the valleys; Trees should be planted near the road reserve to moderate on visual intrusions; Structures should be painted green colour; Control the spread of solid wastes in the protected areas; Control introductions and spread of AIPS.
Solid waste pollution	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Dumping used foods, food covers and water bottles On Construction waste, Contractor to provide solid waste storage bins and skips; Contractor to ensure that the solid waste collected is disposed of in an approved dumpsite.
Accidental oil spill	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Contractor should have well maintained engines and equipment to avoid accidental oil leakages; Construction camp should not be established within the Protected Areas (National Park and Forest Reserve); Construction should be confined during dry seasons only to avoid rains washing oily equipment and machines; All Earthmovers, vehicles and equipment should be removed from the water tower before the onsets of rainy seasons; Clear spills immediately they occur.
Pollution of streams, rivers and reservoirs	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Avoid generating piles of soils along the road Cover piles of soils with waterproof materials to prevent erosion Excess generated loose soils should disposed safely
Draining of wetland and poor resilience to Climate Change	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The contractor construct barrier before the road crossing to prevent water from wetland drained when channel is excavated for bridge construction
Impact on fauna	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Construction on site should begin from 8am and ends at 4pm to allow the birds including other wetland birds to forage. Introduction of speed bumps specifically towards the mooreland valleys; Avoid clearing of tall vegetation on valleys to allow these birds to scale flight height higher than the height of cars. Plant the indigenous shrubs and trees near the valleys to control the flight speed of the bird and allow this bird to scale its flight higher once the trees grow taller. Provide drinking water troughs and mud puddles away from the roads.

Introduction of Alien Invasive Plant Species	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Equipment to be used should be decontaminated; Always avoid the top surface of the soil from borrow pit when excavating gravels for road reinforcements in order to avoid transporting AIPS propagules to new areas; Since AIPS appears later after soil disturbance, aftermath proliferation of AIPS should be controlled by regularly reducing their population and recruitment.
Pitfalls resulting from excavation of trenches	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Provide a temporary crossing over the trench to enable the small mammals, reptiles and amphibians cross easily before backfilling of soil is done. Construction personnel should provide a ramp to enable trapped animals to get out and monitor trenches for animal rescue.
Potential collection of live specimens of chameleon	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Personnel should be educated on CITES in order to understand how to protect species from collection of live specimens Environmentalist expert should be incorporated in the personnel team to monitor on incidences of collection of live specimens
Climate Change impact	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To mitigate this the workers should be trained on management of air pollution from vehicles and machinery. Kericho Governor praises impact of West Sugar Valley plant on local economy

BY SARAH NJAGI (KNA)

Sugarcane farmers in Soin/Sigowet Sub-County within Kericho County are a happy lot following the establishment of a Sh 3.5-billion sugar factory by local investors in a bid to tap huge potential from the cash crop in the rich agricultural area.

Speaking after touring the sugar factory, Kericho Governor Dr. Eric Mutai hailed the factory's management for the establishment of the new sugar milling plant saying it will greatly make a significant impact on the economy of the area and the county at large.

He revealed that Kericho county government had employed thirty agricultural extension officers to assist sugar cane farmers in the sub-county in improving production and productivity of their cash crop.

Dr. Mutai promised sugar cane farmers that the county government will give incentives in terms of farm input subsidies to increase their production so that the sugar factory will have a constant supply of the raw material.

According to the factory's Managing Director (MD) Benard Soi, West Valley Sugar Factory was 85 per cent complete and will commence operations within three months with the aim to produce 2,500 bags of sugar cane daily by milling 1,250 tonnes of sugarcane per day.

The sugarcane will be sourced from farmers in Soin/Sigowet Sub-County, Ainamoi sub-county and Tinderet constituency in Nandi County.

MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE AND LIVESTOCK DEVELOPMENT

EXPRESSION OF INTEREST(EOI)

SUPPLY AND DELIVERY COTTON SEEDS (HYBRIDS, BT AND OPEN POLLINATED VARIETIES)

Reference No.: EOI/MoALD/02/2023-2024

Introduction

The Government of Kenya has identified the Cotton Textile and Apparels (CTA) value chain as one of the priority sectors to drive the government development agenda, create jobs and increase export earnings. For this to be achieved, there is need to ensure availability of adequate raw materials, particularly cotton lint. It is estimated that the country has 385,000 hectares of land suitable to produce up to 73,000 MT (400,000 bales) of cotton lint annually.

The current critical challenge is availability of adequate and quality seeds at affordable price to meet the farmer needs. Over the years farmers have relied on recycled conventional cotton seed varieties which has low productivity and susceptible to damage by cotton bollworms.

In an effort to mitigate the challenges, one of the initiatives pursued by the Government was to approve the commercial cultivation of Bt Cotton in the year 2019. However, hybrid Bt cotton seed has been out of reach to farmers due to the high cost and non-availability in the local agro-dealers' networks. The full potential of the hybrid varieties can only be realized under moderate to high rainfall, whereas conventional varieties are tolerant to low moisture conditions. This requires consideration of more options for cotton seed varieties.

The government is therefore soliciting for expression of interest (EOI) from interested and qualified suppliers of cotton seed varieties (Hybrids, Bt and Open Pollinated Varieties). This EOI is Open to both Local, Regional and International Bidders.

Purpose

The Request for Expression of Interest (REOI) is intended to identify reputable and qualified suppliers of cotton seed varieties (Hybrids, Bt and Open Pollinated Varieties).

Scope

1. The bidder will be required to provide seed materials that meet seed production regulatory requirements by the government.
2. The seed materials will be subjected to National Performance Trials (NPTs) and Distinctness, Uniformity and Stability (DUS) where applicable.
3. Seed materials with Bt traits will be subjected to National Biosafety Regulations.
4. Successful bidders will initially be allowed to import seed where applicable but thereafter be required to develop a local seed production and distribution system locally.

Eligibility and qualification of bidders

The successful bidders are supposed to meet the following minimum requirements:

1. To demonstrate ownership of original genetic material or a license thereof
2. To demonstrate approval of cotton seed material in the country of operation
3. To demonstrate the technical expertise for seed development in a given market
4. Demonstrate a robust research, development and stewardship programme

The Ministry of Agriculture and Livestock Development (State Department for Crop Development) now invites eligible suppliers to express their interest in providing the cotton seed in reference.

Shortlisting Criteria

Interested bidders must provide information to demonstrate their suitability for the roles including the firm's registration information and all other statutory documents, tax compliance, financial capability, local support, and overall firm's experience.

Note that: -

Recruitment of 100,000 Community Health Volunteers to support preventive healthcare

BY BERNARD MUNYAO (KNA)

The Senate Committee for Health is rooting for the allocation of more resources to counties to help facilitate promotion of preventive healthcare in the devolved units.

The committee's chairperson Jackson Mandago said, the national and county governments will partner to ensure primary health care is given priority and promoted so as to curb the many challenges facing the health sector in the country.

The senator noted that for the countries to realize universal healthcare, more resources are needed to be channeled to support primary healthcare saying, as the senate, they are working to ensure counties get increased budgetary allocations to fund promotional and preventive health care.

Mandago revealed through partnership between the two levels of governments, close to 100, 000 Community Health Volunteers will be recruited and trained so as to promote preventive healthcare at villages.

Members of Senate Committee for Health led by Jackson Mandago at Murirandas hospital on fact-finding mission

Some decades ago, the Uasin Gishu senator observed that primary healthcare was well done saying the current situation where people have been greatly affected especially by noncommunicable diseases is because priority is currently given to curative instead of preventive healthcare.

"Preventive healthcare was abandoned a long time ago and the moment we shifted and concentrated in curative healthcare, to avoid spending on expensive drugs, equipment and many expenses in the health sector," said Mandago when he led members of his committee to inspect three health facilities in Murang'a county.

He added that starting from the next financial year, money has been allocated to equip Level One and Level Two health facilities to enable them promote primary healthcare.

"Level two and one medical facilities do not contribute much to curative healthcare since they are supposed to major on primary healthcare," he added.

GDC seeks investors to utilize geothermal steam for industrial processes

BY ESTHER MWANGI AND SAMUEL KARANJA (KNA)

The Geothermal Development Company (GDC) has started commercializing the direct-use of geothermal steam technology by inviting investors to use the technology to power their industrial processes within the Special Economic Zone (SEZ) at Menengai in Nakuru County.

The company has published a request for proposals for the "establishment of geothermal direct-use powered investments" at the Menengai fields which have to be received by July 3rd this year from firms and consortiums interested in investing in projects that would utilize steam from the geothermal wells at the floor of the Menengai crater for direct use.

According to GDC's Direct-Use technology Engineer Japhet Towett, the investors are required to give detailed information about their intended investment at the Menengai geothermal project.

Besides electricity, Towett explained that geothermal energy provided direct heat to industrialists, heat which is a by-product of electricity in the form of steam coming from power plants at about 1500 °C, which he observed was affordable and a game changer in the manner in which Kenya's wealth, as an emerging mid-income industrial society, would be generated.

"Geothermal steam can be utilized for different ranges of applications from industrial, agriculture, tourism, leisure and domestic, depending on the resource temperature and usage," Towett noted.

He said GDC had been demonstrating direct-use technology in the Menengai geothermal field since the year 2015 when five demonstration projects had been set up and commissioned.

The demonstration projects, he said, included steam-heated green houses and aquaculture ponds.

Kakuma, Dadaab refugee camps to be turned into permanent settlements

BY PETER GITONGA (KNA)

The Government is seeking to transform Kakuma and Dadaab refugee camps into permanent settlements and support the self-reliance of the over 600,000 refugees in Kenya.

The Principal Secretary for the State Department for Immigration and Citizen Services Prof (Amb) Julius Bitok expressed the Government's unwavering commitment to refugees by ensuring that their stay within Kenyan borders is dignified.

Speaking during the commemoration of World Refugee Day at Kalobeyei Integrated Settlement, Bitok asked refugees to abide by the laws of Kenya and stated that crimes such as contraband business and sale of illicit brews will not be accepted.

Speaking during the event, Governor Jeremiah Lomorukai also reiterated the County Government of Turkana's commitment to supporting refugees.

"In Turkana County, we stand proud and honoured to have provided support to refugees who have sought shelter within our borders. Since the arrival of the 'Lost Boys of Sudan' in 1992, residents of Turkana have opened their arms to those in need. I want to assure all refugees residing in Turkana that the County Government stands firmly by your side," he said.

Turkana is home to over 300,000 refugees in Kakuma Refugee Camp and Kalobeyei Integrated Settlement.

To realize the vision of integration between refugees and host communities, the Governor said the county government has been working closely with UNHCR and other partners to implement the Kalobeyei Integrated Socio-economic Plan (KISEDP).

Lomorukai underscored the inclusion of refugees as residents of Turkana County in various aspects of governance, including in public participation on county legislation.

He asked partners to collaborate to improve water supply in Kakuma Municipality and ensure environmental protection in the face of deforestation endangering indigenous trees.

The county boss assured of the county's willingness to support refugee affairs, including allocating more land for expansion of settlement, but stated that due process had to be followed in all land allocation processes in the county.

UN High Commissioner for Refugees Filippo Grandi thanked Kenya for agreeing to host refugees.

"You embraced peace and chose generosity towards your brothers and sisters coming from difficult circumstances," he said.

He acknowledged that refugees and host communities still face challenges but commended the county government for choosing a "visionary path" in supporting the integration programme.

BY CATHERINE MUINDI
(PCO)

The Government will upgrade the Kenya Institute of Surveying and Mapping into a semi-autonomous government agency to improve its performance, efficiency and training capacity.

According to the Lands and Physical Planning Principal Secretary Nixon Korir, the college which trains students on photometry and remote sensing, cartography, land surveying and print technology leading to awarding of craft certificates, will be elevated to churn out qualified people in lands and surveying sector.

Speaking while presiding over the 13th graduation ceremony of the Kenya Institute of Surveying and Mapping during which a total of 457 graduands were awarded Diplomas and Craft Certificates in the fields of photogrammetry and remote sensing, cartography, land survey and printing technology

at the graduation at KISM in Ruaraka, Nairobi, Korir said the Government plans to elevate the status of the college, which is the only training arm of the State Department of Lands and Physical Planning, to Semi-Autonomous Government Agency to increase its performance and efficiency.

The PS said the institute has been training professionals who have been able to perform well in their profession both at home and abroad.

"The graduates we send out into the job market are competent and resourceful to perform land management duties in our country and abroad," said PS Korir.

The PS also urged the graduates to join professional bodies as soon as they step out of college adding that many students who do professional courses get locked out of employment because of their failure to join relevant professional bodies.

He said KISM has continued to play an important role in Kenya's development and it has also served to train professionals from neighboring countries.

"KISM has been a focal point in the transfer of geo-information knowledge within the East, Central and Southern Africa regions. This has been possible through the Third Country Group Training programmes," said PS Korir.

KISM has also collaborated with Kenya International Boundaries Office (KIBO) to train staff from Kenya, Tanzania and South Sudan in short courses to empower them to reaffirm and map their common international boundaries.

The institute is a centre of excellence in the Northern Corridor Integration Project (NCIP) involving Kenya, Uganda, Rwanda and South Sudan in the human capacity cluster.

The State Department for Public Health and Professional Standards will soon align its functions and activities with the Government's Strategic Direction on Health in order to deliver Universal Health Care through the Bottom Up Economic Transformation Agenda (BETA).

The Principal Secretary for the State Department Ms Mary Muthoni Muriuki says since the Department plays a vital role in advancing public health in Kenya through its diverse range of functions, it will initiate the amendment of several pieces of legislation which are not in sync with its mandate in an effort to eliminate duplication or overlap of functions and help enhance efficiency. "All pieces of legislation and policies governing and regulating the public health sector which have been rendered obsolete by the passage of time and enactment of the 2010 Constitution will be re-examined, repealed and amended in order to align them with our mandate and the changing times", Ms Muriuki said.

services, the development of policies for healthcare workers and human resources, the management of health education, and the promotion of reproductive health, among others.

To ensure the effective fulfillment of these responsibilities, Ms Muriuki noted, collaboration and synergy among all the directorates, parastatals, regulatory bodies, and divisions within the State Department which are of utmost importance will be harmonised.

In pursuit of this objective, the PS noted that the State Department has initiated a retreat for all the heads of the directorates, regulatory bodies, parastatals and divisions in order to come up with an harmonised policy document which will guide the execution of its mandate effectively.

"The primary aim of the retreat will be to foster familiarity and enhance understanding of their respective functions, identifying areas of alignment and coordination to ensure seamless service delivery", the PS revealed.

She noted that efforts are underway to streamline and amend various laws to eliminate duplication or overlap of functions, which will enhance efficiency within the State Department. Additionally, there is a strong focus on regulating all health cadres to ensure professionalism and prioritize the safety of Kenyans.

"Recognizing the financial constraints faced, prudent use of available resources will be of utmost importance. By exercising financial responsibility, the State Department aims to maximize the impact of investments and achieve sustainable outcomes in the health-care sector", the PS said.

Ms Muriuki further said that the ultimate objective of convening these retreats is to align all arms of the State Department with the government's strategic direction. The focal point is delivering Universal Health Coverage through the Bottom-up Economic Transformation Agenda model (BETA).

State to launch sectoral reforms to tackle emerging technology trends

BY EVALYNE GITHINJI (PCO)

The Government has put in place partnerships with global players to put in place sectoral reforms through legislative frameworks in order to combat emerging technology trends.

Speaking during a planning workshop between the GIZ Digital Transformation Centre (DTC), an initiative of the EU team and the Ministry of Information, Communications and The Digital Economy, ICT and Digital Economy Principal Secretary Eng. John Tanui noted that the government is focused on putting in place the requisite policies to regulate new areas of technological advancement like artificial intelligence (AI).

"As we embark on this ambitious journey, we should have the right policies and structures in place and we also need to identify areas where we can collaborate to ensure our citizens have access to affordable digital devices," said Tanui.

Addressing stakeholders at the workshop the PS stated that his ministry is keen on boosting connectivity as part of Kenya's ambitious transformation plan through the implementation of specific key projects.

"We need to connect our cities through metro networks and establish digital cities that will bridge the digital divide by providing access to opportunities for learning and for work," PS Tanui said.

The PS noted that as Kenya advances in the area of digital trade, she wants to be part of the global discussion of data flows.

"That is why we are very happy to be part of the EU team discussing about data flows and see how Kenya can comply and become probably the first country that can achieve the adequacy that is required," he said.

The PS acknowledged that Kenya is becoming quite attractive to investments in the establishment of data centers with the country's advantage stemming from the availability of highly skilled talent and the existence of vast sources of renewable energy that would allow such centres to operate on 100 per cent renewable energy.

The Head of the Digital Government Component, DTC Ms. Christin Schulz-Kaunga said the workshop provided an opportunity to explore relevant policy frameworks on current policy priorities for the Kenya National Digital Master Plan and the digital identity initiative.

Milestone as SGR passenger service ferries 10.3m travellers in six years

BY MUTISO MBITHI (MYGOV)

The Madaraka Express train service, launched by then President Uhuru Kenyatta on May 31st, 2017, has become a game-changer for passenger travel between Nairobi and the Coast region.

Operated by the Kenya Railways Corporation (KRC) in conjunction with Afristar, the Madaraka Express has revolutionized Kenya's transport landscape.

As the Madaraka Express marks six years of the seamless operations of the SGR, passengers who use the passenger train service say it has redefined convenience, connectivity, and comfort for millions of Kenyans.

According to railway transport sector players and users of the service like Mr. Erastus Wambua, a senior auditor in one of the parastatals, with its remarkable achievements and commitment to customer satisfaction, Madaraka Express has solidified its position as the preferred mode of transport in the East African Community region.

"In fact, Madaraka Express has revolutionized connectivity in Kenya, bridging the gap between major cities and regions. By linking Nairobi and Mombasa, the service has enabled faster and more convenient travel for both business and leisure purposes," says a railways stakeholder who declined to be named because he is not authorized to speak to the media.

The official further noted that this enhanced connectivity has facilitated regional trade, spurred tourism, and cultural exchange, ultimately boosting Kenya's economic growth.

"By providing seamless connections, Madaraka Express has brought people closer, making it easier for families, friends, and businesses to connect and thrive," the railways sector source says.

He added that notably, the Mombasa-Nairobi SGR has transformed the travel experience between the two cities, significantly reducing the journey time from over 10 hours by road to less than five hours. This remarkable achievement, the Madaraka Express management says, has not only provided convenience to the residents along the line but has also opened up a world of possibilities for development and economic growth of areas where the SGR line passes through.

A reliable railway source told MyGov that the Ma-daraka Express commitment to service excellence is evident in its investment in customer training programs.

"By sending its passenger service crew for training in China, China Road and Bridge Corporation (CRBC) aims to enhance service delivery and improve the overall customer experience on Madaraka Express," says the transport source.

This training, according to Madaraka Express management not only benefits the individuals involved by fostering career progression and expanding their professional knowledge but also facilitates knowledge transfer within the organization.

"By continuously improving its human resources, Madaraka Express has been able to provide exceptional service that meets and exceeds passenger expectations", the reliable source told MyGov.

The insider railway source further says, optimal utilization and revenue generation have contributed to the success of Madaraka Express given that the high occupancy rate of 99.1 per cent including inter-county seat re-use on the Mombasa-Nairobi SGR reflects the effective utilization of the passenger train service.

Kisumu to host global forum on hemophilia

■ Medical doctors and health practitioners from across the globe are expected to converge in Kisumu in September for a sickle cell disease (SCD) and hemophilia international conference.

The conference, organized by the county government of Kisumu, targets to create awareness of the two diseases and at the same time, promote medical tourism as the county moves to position Kisumu town as a tourist hub.

This comes amidst concerns over rising cases of sickle cell disease in the country with residents of Nyanza, Western, and Coastal regions flagged as being at high risk of developing the disease.

The Kisumu County Executive Committee member in charge of Tourism, Trade, Industry, and Marketing Ms Farida Salim said, the conference will change the tide in the management of diseases in the country.

The international conference slated for September 12th-16th 2023, Ms Salim added, has already attracted both local and international partners. The partners, the CECM said, include the Ministry of Health, Kenya Medical Training College (KMTC), Jaramogi Oginga Odinga Teaching and Referral Hospital (JOOTRH), Kenya Society of Hematology and Oncology, and the International Cancer Institute. She added that a technical team from the Departments of Medical Services and Public Health and that of Tourism were mapping more stakeholders to be brought on board to make the conference a success.

The CECM noted that the theme of the conference is 'Transforming the landscape of sickle cell disease and hemophilia progress, challenges and future resolve'.

She said the target is to discuss milestones in combating the two diseases and how existing gaps can be bridged.

A secretariat, Ms Salim added, had been set up and registration is ongoing, urging all interested parties to book a spot.

The conference, would boost the economy of Kisumu with exhibitors from all walks of life invited to showcase their products and services, she said.

The Department of Tourism added banks to the conference to showcase Kisumu to the world to attract tourists. "The delegates coming to the conference will have an opportunity to sample some of the key attractions in Kisumu. This will promote Kisumu as a tourist hub," she said.

CS unveils rules for child protection in emergencies

■ The Ministry of Labour and Social Protection has launched operational guidelines for child protection in emergencies which will address specific needs of children during emergencies.

The Cabinet Secretary, Florence Bore, said the children in Kenya constitute more than half of the population, making them the most vulnerable during emergencies if their rights are not being fully protected in such situations.

In a speech read on her behalf by Secretary for Children Services Shem Nyakuto, Ms Bore emphasized the importance of enacting legislation and policies that safeguard children's rights, with reference to the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC) and the Africa Charter on the Rights of the Child (ACRWC).

"This is basically to provide a framework for coordinated and effective responses to protect children's rights and well-being," the CS said.

"I share with you the excitement of enacting the Children Act of 2022, a milestone legislation for our children. It includes Section 12 (2) (f), which recognizes the care of children in emergencies under social security. My ministry is committed to ensuring the full implementation of the Act and providing the necessary support and guidance," Bore emphasized.

She said natural disasters, the 2007 post-election violence, collapse of storey buildings and child trafficking have negatively impacted children's mental health, saying that they are in dire need of psycho-social support.

"As we were recovering from the pandemic, Kenya was hit by one of the worst droughts in forty years. More than 16 million children across the country are living with the dual impacts of poverty and the climate emergency, according to research conducted by Save the Children in 2022," she said.

Heroes' council prepares blueprint to recognize Kenya's top champions

BY SAMMUEL WAITITU (KNA)

The National Heroes Council has started drafting a strategic plan to come up with an elaborate framework for the identification of the country's heroes for recognition.

Although not much has been heard of the council in the public discourse since its inception in 2014 following enactment of Kenya Heroes Act the same year, the Council CEO Charles Wambia said the move, which will revitalise it, was also in line with the fulfillment of the constitutional requirement for public organizations to implement strategic planning to guide their activities.

Speaking in Embu town, during the first public parting views from the public to guide our activities as we seek to operationalize the strategic plan in July in preparation for Mashujaa Day celebrations later in the year," he said.

He said many questions abound with regard to many Kenyans who have not been recognized despite their immense contribution and sacrifice for the country in different fields, saying these are some of the grey areas that the plan will seek to address.

The CEO said they are also projecting in the near future to open regional offices to aid decision making in the identification and selection process. He at the same time called on those accorded the status to hold their images high in the public eye lest they attract sanctions that may include withdrawal of the awards.

Participants present expressed divergent views, with some citing neglect of renowned heroes, while others commended the government for recognizing their efforts and sacrifices.

Local leader Daudi Tarubukula from Isiolo said the Northern part of Kenya had been marginalized in terms of proper recognition of their heroic acts and sacrifices for the nation. For instance, he singled out the Shifta War in which ethnic Somalis in the Northern Frontier District attempted to take over Northern Kenya from Isiolo upwards.
